Level assessment – language training

Before planning any language training course, a thorough needs analysis and level assessment are carried out. We estimate that it takes approximately 1½ hours to manage the test, which is both written and oral.

The results from the test form the basis for deciding the training structure, content and scope most suitable for the individual, group or company. This approach is essential for our concept of quality.

If you are a beginner we will not run the level assessment but we will interview you and ask you to fill in the needs analysis form to get the optimal course start.

You do not have to order a course at ComCult AB just because you have been tested here. The advantages are as follow, though:

- You get an exact judgement of your current language level
- You get a personalised training model
- The trainer/teacher uses the test results to make a tailor-made course plan
